

User Flow for Video in the Washington Place App

On photo #2 in the Quinn gallery (the family pic as shown above), an HP Reveal button is placed directly under the photo to emphasize that it can be scanned with Augmented Reality. When users click the large button, the HP Reveal app will open (in later phases of the app, we hope the scanning function will open within the app).

Beneath the photo description is a module for the accompanying video of Nancy Quinn. The video is placed on the bottom since it's an additional feature and is the same video as the one that opens using HP Reveal. Clicking on the video thumbnail will open the video in the fullscreen iOS video UI.
